

SPARC

Global School of Entrepreneurship by

ARC

SPARC The Global School of Entrepreneurship by ARC, is the lead cohort of the Entrepreneurship Program. It hand-picks a group of clinicians and researchers and provides them with mentorship and guidance from ideation to pitch over several weeks. Additionally, participants have the opportunity to visit the US to familiarize themselves with the US healthcare system and meet with KOLs.

By equipping participants with entrepreneurial skills, SPARC enables them to navigate their healthcare initiatives more effectively while aligning them with business perspectives and validation.

The SPARC I March 2023 Cohort included 28 participants from Sheba, as well as individuals from 5 different continents.

We are excited to announce that the application process is now open for the next SPARC cohort, which will launch later this year, offering another opportunity to embark on a transformative entrepreneurial journey.

If you are considering applying to the program or if you would like to recommend candidates - please follow the link or scan the QR code provided and let us know.

For more details and to apply as a mentor, please contact
Dr. Zohar Kaplan, Head of ARC's Entrepreneurship Program.
zohar.kaplan@sheba.health.gov.il

*Note that the tuition fee does not include the cost of traveling to Israel and the US.

